Foreword

It is with the greatest pleasure that we, the Greenbriar Staff, present the 1962 edition of our yearbook. We sincerely hope that every page of this book will bring to your mind memories of cherished events.

In choosing a theme we have tried to settle upon one which is a common language to all students. We have chosen the language of music.

As Time Goes By we will leave Fuquay Springs High School, but we will find past events within it Now and For Always impressed on our memories For Sentimental Reasons. Even when our September Song has changed its tempo and become a college tune, we'll Remember Always that These Are The Little Things that make high school days irreplaceable.

Pictured below are your guides for your tour through the yearbook, Sally and "F" Sharp.

Sally and "F" Sharp

Dedication

To you, Mr. Leonidas Betts, we dedicate the 1962 edition of the Greenbriar. We will always remember that great interest you have shown in us and in our activities and abilities. We recognize you as a man who makes friends easily and because of his own youth understands our youthful ideas. We especially want to thank you for your profound interest in our individual rights and problems and your increasing good nature, which lightens school tasks.

A favorite pastime.

Off for a County Beta Club meeting.

Members of our Administrative Committee.

Another hard fought game.

We show our school spirit on "Lick 'em Day."

Our pride and joy.

Cheerleaders lead the Falcons in.

American Education Week.

Ann Motley and the sign-out book.

Senior English Class Seminar.

David Pope and Kaye Keith show off their class rings.

Homecoming court and escorts.

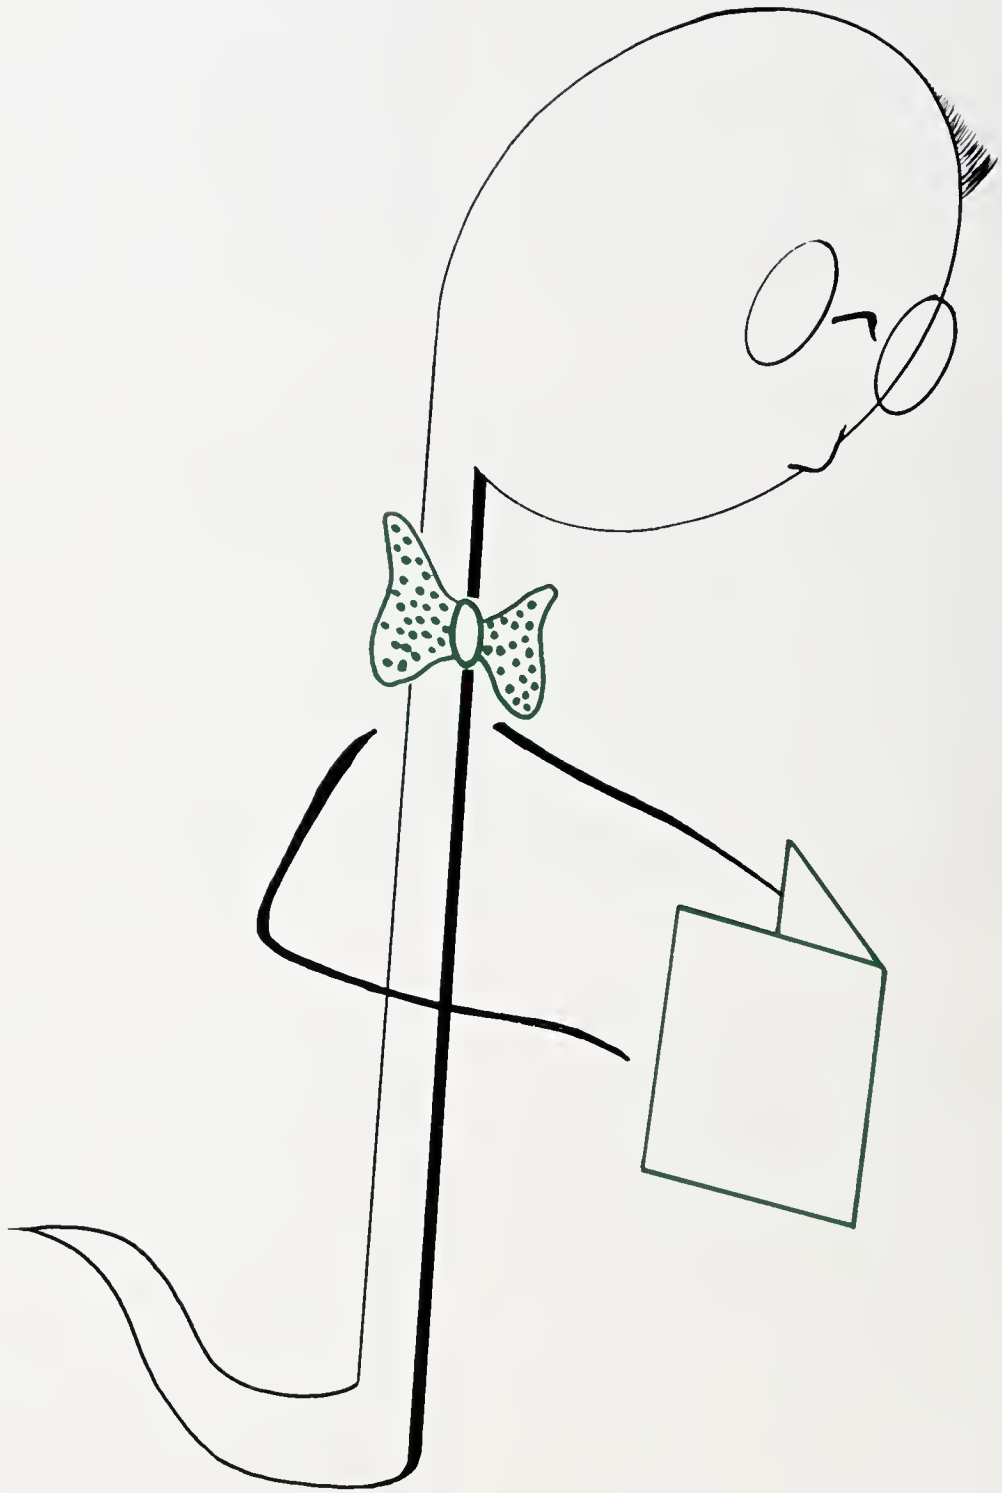

High School Bowl, A contest between classes.

A familiar sight at recess.

"You Hold The Future"

Administration

MR. E. N. FARNELL

As you venture from the protection of the home and community agencies to which you have become so accustomed and enter a world of challenge, uncertainty, and opportunity, I leave these thoughts with you.

Forty odd years ago Woodrow Wilson said, "Men's hearts wait upon us; Men's lives hang in the balance; Men's hopes call upon us to say what we will do. Shall we live up to the great trust? Who dares fail to try?"

With this in mind, I challenge you to dedicate:

YOUR HANDS to the work of the world.

YOUR EARS to listen to the cry of children, and the prayers of women for peace and to the appeal of man for guidance.

YOUR EYES to the search for good men as your leaders.

YOUR HEART to serve injured humanity.

YOUR SOUL to recognize no fear except its own unworthiness.

To proclaim as your creed that proclaimed by the Man of Galilee when he declared "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them."

And to pledge that you will always strive to practice the GOLDEN RULE.

English

Candace Harris and Gene Frazier are looking at a typical English bulletin board.

In English classes at Fuquay Springs, students begin with the very necessary foundation, grammar. After they have begun to master this, they branch out into the fascinating field of literature. They read such works as Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream, Julius Caesar, and Macbeth. In the senior year they study briefly Chaucer's Canterbury Tales. Literary selections range from the Anglo-Saxon period to modern day. Interested seniors gain additional aid from the Senior English Class Seminar.

Ellas Stephens uses his knowledge of the card catalogue to find a book.

Sara Maser, Vickie Hoff and Steve Ashworth make use of our new record player.

Anna Adams and Sylvia Burroughs are diagramming a simple English sentence.

Foreign Languages

Diane Prince and Michael Cotten display some French projects.

Jennifer Ashworth conjugates a familiar Latin verb.

Shirley Strickland, Beverly Allen and Wayne Vaughan are using the language lab.

While all French and Latin students may not remember all verb endings and conjugations they still have some valuable information to carry away from their courses. Familiar passages everyone will remember are "Je t'aime" and "Ego Amo te." Students have a choice between Latin in their Freshman and Sophomore years and French in the junior and senior year.

Through our language laboratory French students gain a knowledge of the defects in their speech.

Ellen Fish, Nancy Stuart and Galen Elliott play Latin Bingo.

Vocational Home Economics

Brenda Frazier puts to use her knowledge of sewing.

Gloria Powell and Paulette Welch experiment in cooking with the aid of a recipe book.

Diane Ellis explains one of the Home Economics projects.

A girl may know all there is to know about housekeeping, but if she doesn't know how to apply this knowledge it won't benefit her. In Vocational Home Economics girls learn child care, the fine arts of sewing, practical etiquette, interior decoration, facts on fashions and fabrics, and of course cooking.

Girls at Fuquay Springs may take Home Economics in their Freshman year. Two years must be taken in order to receive credit for the course. However, one may take it in either three or four of her high school years.

Becky Capps points out the characteristics of a future homemaker.

Vocational Agriculture

An everyday classroom scene.

Jerry Coats, Simpson Currin, Bobby Beckwith, John Robert Pruitt and Larry McLaurin demonstrate practical knowledge learned in the shop.

Vocational agriculture prepares those who are planning to make farming their profession. It also helps boys who don't plan to be farmers but may need a knowledge of these various activities in other fields of work. Classroom discussions teach these boys facts, while demonstrations enable them to comprehend these facts, and actual participation in supervised projects adds the final touch by letting them profit by their mistakes. The fields of study are mechanics, crops, livestock and actual management. Two years are required for the course.

Jerry Smith, Jerry Wood and Bill Kelly learn the art of trimming shrubbery.

Leon Carroll shows Carl Ragan and Donald Jeffries the correct way to groom a calf.

Priscilla Dye and Simpson Currin admire a Geography-Government bulletin board.

We've all argued the point that history isn't important because it's in the past, but it's only with a knowledge of past mistakes and problems that we can confront our modern problems. The courses offered at Fuquay are North Carolina History for eighth-graders, World History for Sophomores, Economics-Sociology for Seniors, a television course in United States History for juniors, and a combined course of Geography and Government for any student in high school. Four units in Social Studies are required for graduation.

Robert Powell and Joan Wilson are learning about investments through the Economics bulletin board.

Social Studies

Elizabeth Engle turns on the television for U. S. History.

Ann Adams and Brenda Gail Dickens seem interested in their World History projects.

Business Education

Nell Spivey enjoys her bookkeeping.

Linda Prince and Pansy Hargis are practicing their shorthand.

There is an excellent field open for those interested in any type of business at Fuquay. Students are being prepared for any number of these jobs. In bookkeeping students learn to handle balance sheets, accounts and other profitable records. Typing aids a person in spelling, letter writing, and even exercises the hands. Shorthand prepares a future secretary and business arithmetic helps the student apply math to his business operations. Actual work with business machines also helps.

First year typing students hard at work.

Jackie Yarborough uses her adding machine expertly.

Bobby Roberts and Phil McLean have fun using the burets.

Science

In the various sciences, basic mysteries of the earth are exposed for the student's analysis. Chemistry students learn (by trial and error) the contents of certain mixtures. Physics students learn about motion, equilibrium, force and other complicated elements. Biology offers a nice study of frog dissection if you're brave, and General Science combines some of all the sciences into a basic study for Freshmen.

We have good reason to be proud of both our Chemistry and our Biology laboratories. These laboratories are well equipped for any scientific experiment.

Becky Holland and James Payne are able to learn a great deal from "Oscar."

Donald Powell and Hal Cloer seem fascinated by the aquarium.

Ken Moore and Kent Mangum use the oscilloscope.

Mathematics

Proofs, theorems, identities, radians, equations — these are words likely to be heard in one of the math classes. It is difficult to know the practical side of algebra I and II, but when a problem has been solved there seems to be a feeling of satisfaction. Setting up plane geometry proofs can be fun if it is tackled in the right way. Senior Math presents a certain amount of review and the practical side of math. Trigonometry and Solid Geometry pave the way for the college bound students.

Katie Olive and Jerry Holland find plane geometry intriguing.

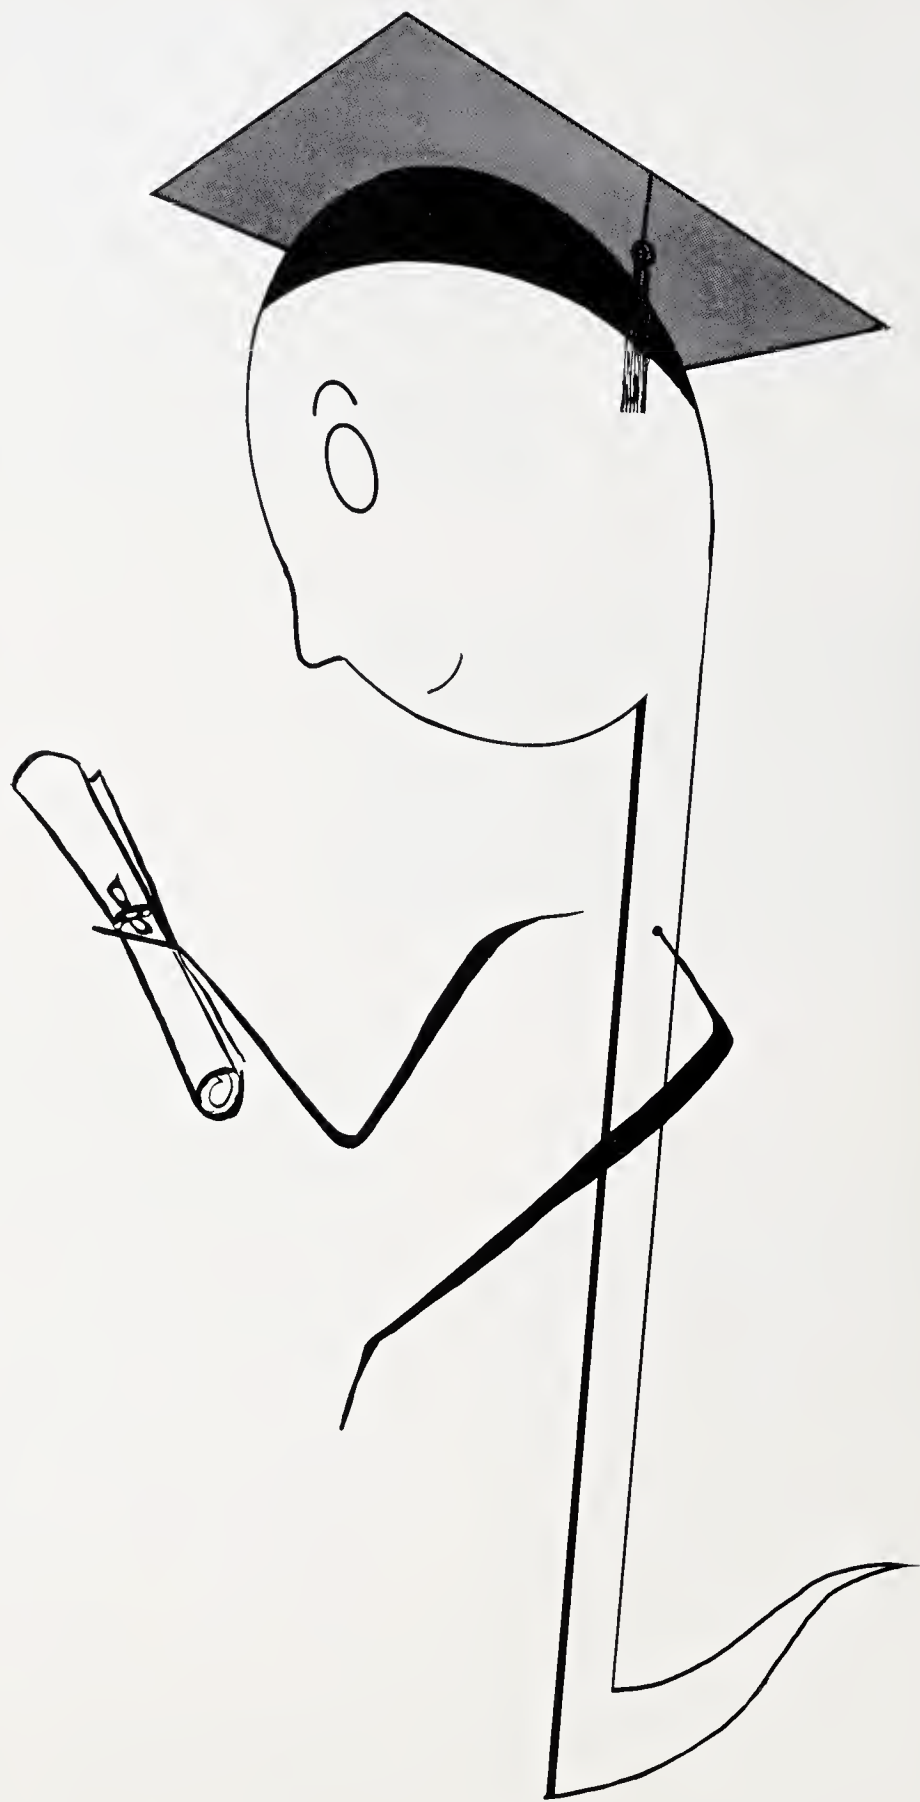

Jean Vuncannon hopes to find senior math helpful.

Trigonometry often gets more complicated than drawing a circle, just ask Jimmy Stephens and Ann Tingen.

Jane Smith and David Stephens use graphs in Algebra I and Algebra II.

A tribute to Jo Anne Cotten for her determination and high spirit. In spite of her temporary confinement to a wheel chair, she managed to keep up with all her studies at home.

The Greenbriar Staff, class and student body salute you, Jo Anne.

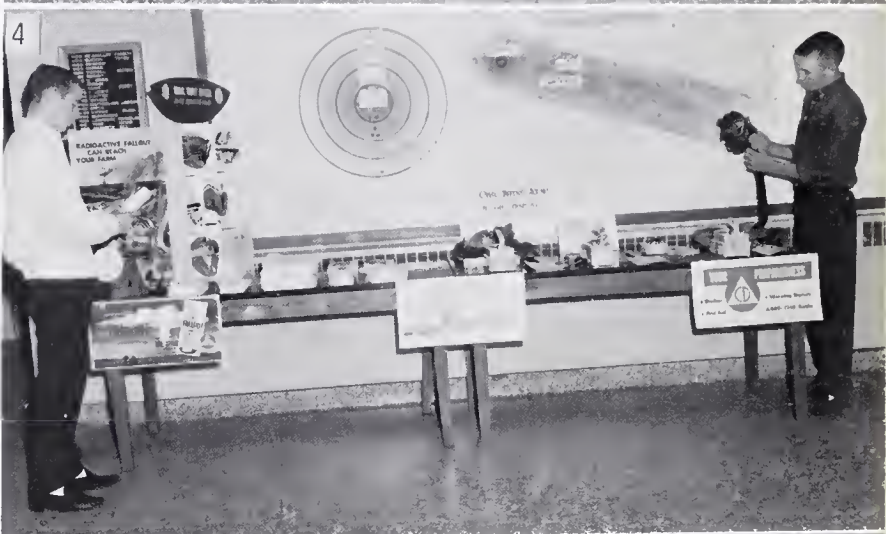

(1) Judy and Bobby represent our class well in the Student Council.

(2) Another phase of the "Beat Garner Campaign."

Moments To Remember

(1) A display of Fuquay's school spirit. (2) These girls have served our J. V. players well. (3) Fred and Bobby had high hopes for that Apex game. (4) Larry Coats and Larry Adams are fascinated by the Civil Defense display. (5) Our homecoming court. (6) Shirley and Judy at the revolving egg display.

Senior Class History

Emily McCauley prepares for her part in the play during Senior Week.

The year is 1962. For us this '61-'62 year of high school is our last. At last, we are on top. It seems like only yesterday that we were on bottom looking up.

It's easy to remember when we were first entering senior high school. Everything was so new to us, and we were so "green." That year we were able to join clubs for the first time. The two available to us as freshmen were the F.H.A. and the F.F.A.

Our officers for that year were Jimmy Williams, president; Howard Brooks, vice-president; Kaye Howard, secretary; and Beverly Allen, treasurer.

We were well represented in sports that year. Jimmy Williams, Bobby Dickens, Larry Williams, and Billy Adams played football. In basketball and baseball Jimmy Williams was our only representative.

Our homecoming attendant for that year was Jo Anne Cotten.

Now, let's move on to the next year. We weren't quite as "green" as we were last year. And now we didn't have to look up to everybody. There were at least a few below us, and they were in the position that we held last year.

Our officers for our sophomore year were Emily McCauley, president; Tom Buffaloc, vice-president; Kaye Howard, secretary; and Reginald Shaw, treasurer.

There were other organizations available to us this year, too. Some of these were the Library Club and the Monogram Club.

This year we were fortunate to have two girls to make the cheering squad. They were Ginger Prince and Dottie Sue Currin.

We had a new sport at school this year. It was track. Our class was represented by Jimmy Williams, Wesley Cotten, Fred Lee Hunt, Billy Adams, and W. E. Medlin. Seven boys more than last year were on our football team. They were Howard Brooks, W. E. Medlin, Donnie Keith, Wesley Cotten, Fred Lee Hunt, Steve Smith and Charles Campbell. In baseball our additional players were Bobby Dickens, Larry Williams, Jimmy Stephens, and Reginald Shaw. And last, but not least, there was basketball. Here we had four more representatives than last year. These were Bobby Dickens, David Pope, Larry Williams and Donnie Keith. This year we also had a number of girls playing basketball. The six who played were Jo Anne Cotten, Ann Tingen, Jeanne Farabow, Pat McLean, Beverly Allen, and Judy Stephens.

Our homecoming attendant for this year was Ginger Prince.

This year twenty-four sophomores were chosen to be waiters and waitresses at the Junior-Senior Prom. They were dressed as Geisha girls and coolies to add a realistic touch to the "Oriental Gardens" theme.

Our Junior year was probably our most exciting year. For this year, we had the privilege of honoring our seniors with a Junior-Senior Prom, which we planned ourselves.

The year got off to a booming start as we elected the following officers: Jimmy Williams, president; Ken Moore, vice-president; Patricia McLean, secretary; and Jimmy Stephens, treasurer.

Once again the doors to additional clubs were open to us. This year we were able to join any club for which we met the requirements.

This year three additional boys, Larry Dennis, Ellas Ray Stephens, and Eddie Holland, helped represent our class in football. Our additional baseball players were Larry Dennis, Donnie Keith, Ellas Stephens, and David Pope. In basketball, Fred Lee Hunt was our only new representative on the court. Shirley Baker was our only new representative on the girls' team.

Our homecoming attendant for our junior year was Ann Tingen.

Another of our girls, Shirley Strickland, made the cheering squad. We had two majorettes this year. They were Judy Stephens and Emily McCauley.

This year we were eligible for the Beta Club. We had ten to be received as members. These were Kaye Howard, Shirley Strickland, Judy Dudley, Wesley Cotten, Ken Moore, David Pope, Jimmy Rector, Jimmy Stephens, Tom Buffaloe and Wayne Vaughan.

We will probably never forget selling all that candy to make money for the Junior-Senior. However, none of us regretted the effort put forth when we walked into the gymnasium that night and saw the decorations of an authentic Mexican village. Our theme was "Mexican Fiets" and, though we did work hard, we found that it was truly worth the effort.

Neither will we forget our junior play directed by Mr. Taylor. Those appearing in our play, "Stranger in the Night," were Shirley Strickland, Judy Dudley, Donnie Keith, Larry Dennis, W. E. Medlin, Howard Brooks, Beverly Allen, Emily McCauley, Joan Wilson, Mack Spainhour, Dottie Currin, and Pat McLean.

As this year closed, nine were chosen from our class to be marshals. Those chosen were Kaye Howard, chief; Judy Dudley, Shirley Strickland, Beverly Allen, Linda Prince, David Pope, Wesley Cotten, Jimmy Rector and Wayne Vaughan.

And now here we are in our last year. We know what it feels like to be on top at last. We have so very much to which to look forward. And we have so very many treasured memories of our high school days.

The officers chosen for this year are as follows: Jimmy Williams, president; Dottie Currin, vice-president; Nell Spivey, secretary; and Ann Tingen, treasurer.

We are still well represented in all sports with the same players. Ginger Prince was chosen head cheerleader for this year.

At our homecoming game this year, Judy Stephens was crowned queen with Ginger Prince as her senior attendant.

We have anticipated our senior year for a long time with excitement. This year so much will be happening. We will get our class rings. Everyone was bubbling with excitement as they received their class ring. We have the Junior-Senior Prom and graduation to which to look forward. Graduation always brings a rather sad feeling as we think of leaving high school. But we know as time goes on so must we, in order to make way for those who are following the same paths we have trod.

YESTERDAY, TODAY, AND TOMORROW

Success was not reached by a single bound.
We built the ladder by which we rose
To a broader view and a higher ground,
With a vast and infinite purpose.
All the past things are gone and over;
The tasks are done, and the tears are shed.
Yesterday is now a part of forever,
Those good days and bad days and sad days are dead.
Yesterday's errors let yesterday cover;
Let them go, since we cannot relive them,
Cannot undo and cannot atone.
Only the days to come are our own.

The actual beginning of a yearbook is in the spring when the staff is appointed. During the summer months the pages are carefully drawn up and theme decided upon. Locations for pictures have to be found as well as the people who are to appear in them. For several days, pictures are made, after they have been developed they must be identified. For certain sections of the book, paragraphs or explanations must be prepared. These are then typed by the staff typists on copy sheets. All material has to be collected and sent to the publisher at a designated time. We later receive proofs, which we examine to see if any corrections are to be made. Our work is rewarded, however, when we see our yearbooks on Annual Day.

Council

The sole purpose of the Student Council is to represent the student body. It serves as a voice for the entire high school. Most clubs and each class elect a representative. The president of this organization composes and helps conduct all assembly programs.

Some important events sponsored by the Council have been dances, assembly programs, Orientation Day for new freshmen, spring and fall elections. This year the Student Council was in charge of American Education Week activities. Four members, Ginger Princee, Judy Stephens, Michael Cotten and Forrest Council attended the State Student Council Convention in Fayetteville, North Carolina. In order to be recognized by the Student Council, a club must draw up a constitution and have it approved by the Council. Those clubs which are recognized may have a representative on the Council. The four officers of the Student Council became members of the Administrative Committee.

The Council sponsored "Beat Garner Week." A "Victory Chain" was placed in the hall with the names of those attending the game.

The Fuquay Springs Chapter of the National Beta Club admits juniors and seniors on the basis of a 3.3 quality point average. To remain in the club a member must maintain a 3.1 average. In October the new members from the junior class are inducted in a special assembly program. Upon entering, each member pays his dues of four dollars and fifty cents. In the spring of the year the Betas attend the State Convention. Every month a few representatives of the club attend meetings of the Wake County Council of Beta Clubs.

Officers this year are, Jerry Bradley, vice-president, Wesley Cotten, president, Judy Dudley, secretary, Jimmy Stephens, treasurer.

Marshals

Every spring, according to their academic standing, nine students are chosen to be marshals. The duties of the marshals are to usher parents, give information, and in short keep the baccalaureate and graduation exercises running smoothly. It is the duty of the chief marshal to lead the seniors in their march and to entertain the mascots. The marshals are very proud to have a chance to accept this responsibility. Each time one of them hears a graduation march he will be reminded of his green sash and activities as a marshal.

"Toward New Horizons" is the motto found on the seal of the Future Homemakers of America. The F.H.A. is the largest organization in the high school. It is composed of all girls who are taking or who have taken Home Economics. During the year, the members of the club attend three rallies. These consist of both district and country rallies. A Mother and Daughter Banquet is held during the year, at which the mothers of the members are honored.

In order to raise money for the activities of the year, the club sponsors cake bakes. A fashion show is given each year by the girls who are taking Home Economics.

The F.F.A. participates in the annual livestock show. They present several radio programs each year. These programs are concerned with their studies and general information about farming.

Each year, the F.F.A. gives several parties to which they invite their sister organization. The parties usually include a Hoe-Down in the fall, a Christmas party, and a picnic in the spring.

Working with their sponsors, Mr. Hunt and Mr. Manley, members of this club enjoy learning more about the art of farming.

Band

The Fuquay Springs High School Band provides the main source of school spirit. We have all had good reason to be proud when they march on the football field playing "Everything's Coming up Roses," or some other peppy tune.

The half-time programs they give boost our spirits whether we be winning or losing the game, and the aid they give the cheering section is greatly needed.

This year the band and majorettes have received beautiful new uniforms. Through the tireless efforts of the Band Boosters Club these uniforms have been paid for in full with money made by various projects.

The band has participated in many parades including the annual Christmas parade in Raleigh, for which they sported tiny green Christmas trees over their plumes. They also ventured to the homecoming game at State College.

Each year several concerts are held including a special afternoon lawn concert in the spring.

Five factors make the band a good one (1) talent (2) an excellent director (3) determination (4) a modern music building which provides a pleasing atmosphere and adequate room for equipment (5) Band Boosters Club.

A new flag has been added to the color guard this year, the Confederate flag.

Band is considered a regular course and members are graded as in other subjects.
